To Whom It May Concern:

I, Nancy D. Mosby, hereby withdraw my name from everything connected with a patent being applied for by International Paper concerning an ISO VG 400 product (trimerate) developed by Lloyd Nelson and myself. Although one of my contributions (blending two different products (that I also helped develop) to achieve the desired viscosity of 400 cSt at 40°C) led directly to the development of the product being patented, I do not desire any credit or recognition in relation to this patent, nor do I desire to retain any potential benefits now or in the future associated with this patent.

Thank you for complying with my request. If you must contact me for anything further, you can direct a letter to the address listed above. I expect nothing less than common courtesy from you, and request nothing more.

Sincerely,

Nancy D. Mosby
